

My Mercy Checklist

Mercy is love's second name. Mercy looks at the trouble of others and cares, acts, forgives, and perseveres.

Mercy is "the greatest attribute of God."

—Saint John Paul II, Rich in Mercy, 1981

DOORS OF MERCY

Check all below that apply to you today.

This checklist is for you to keep and review at the end of the Doors of Mercy program.

- I want to understand God and His mercy more than I do today.
- I'm not sure there is a way to really know God better.
- I'd like to learn ways to receive more hope and healing for the wounds I carry.
- I need to forgive myself for something in my past.
- I don't know what a covenant has to do with my marriage and friendships.
- How can I be forgiven for the things that I've done?
- I want to know God more personally and more intimately.
- I'd like to better understand the purpose of the sacrament of Reconciliation.
- I know and love God, and want to spend more time focusing on Him.
- There are people who I haven't fully forgiven.
- I'd like to understand how God's justice relates to God's mercy.
- I'm afraid that God is angry with me or may punish me.
- It's a challenge for me to fully trust God with my life.
- I don't understand how Adam and Eve relate to my life today.
- I'd like to know more about Divine Mercy and St. Faustina.
- I feel like something is missing in my life and I'm ready to find it.
- I want to trust God more when things aren't going right in my life.
- I'd like to better understand God's covenant with me.
- I'd like to learn about the promise of the Divine Mercy devotion to renew my soul.
- God feels close at times but distant at others. I'd like to know why.
- Sometimes I don't offer mercy to others when I could.
- I wonder if God could fully and completely forgive me. Would He even want to?
- It's very difficult to fully forgive those who have deeply hurt me.
